

perror()

`perror()` prints an error message to the standard error stream based on the current value of "errno".

```
#include <stdio.h>

/
 * "s" is a custom message to prepend to the error message
 */
void perror(const char *s);
```